

Licensed Sole Owner Applying for Corporate License

NOTE: If you are applying for a Corporate License and you do not complete this form, your Sole Ownership License number cannot be reissued to your corporation; a new license number will be issued.

California Law allows a Sole Owner License number to be reissued to a corporation if:

- The Sole Owner License is in good standing;
- The corporation was formed by the same licensee; and
- He or she maintains ownership directly or indirectly of more than 50%* of the voting power of the corporation.

To have the license number reissued to the corporation, the licensee must mark "YES" and sign the form below. Once the number is reissued, it belongs to the corporation and cannot be reissued to an individual later.

NAME OF CORPORATION (as shown on this application)

SOLE OWNER LICENSE NUMBER

NAME OF SOLE OWNER (as shown on CSLB records)

PLEASE CHECK ONLY ONE BOX BELOW:

- ☐ YES. Reissue my Sole Owner License number, _____ to the corporation named above.
I certify that I own _____% of this corporation. I understand the license number cannot be reissued back to me as a sole owner in the future.
- ☐ NO. DO NOT reissue my Sole Owner License number to this corporation.
Please issue a new license number to the corporation.

Notice about Reissued License Numbers and Joint Venture Licenses

When a Sole Owner License number that was previously associated with a Joint Venture License is reissued to a corporation, the Joint Venture License is cancelled. The remaining entities may request a continuance of the Joint Venture license to complete projects already contracted for or in progress before the cancellation date. The continuance may be granted for a period of up to one year; the written request must be received by CSLB Headquarters within 90 days of the cancellation date (date of reissue).

* CSLB interprets the phrase "more than 50%" as at least 51%.
